After some consideration, a motion was passed to the effect that the Town of Blairmore take over the assessment and collection of taxes for the school district and assume responsibility for two-thirds of the secretary-treasurer's salary and that the salary for the joint secretary be $200 per month.

Following this the board submitted the following resolution:

Moved by C. J. Tompkins and seconded by R. W. H. Pinkney, that the board concur with the town council in respect to the taking over of school district affairs and the setting of salary of the secretary.

A by-law to appoint a returning officer for the forthcoming municipal election received three readings and was finally passed, Mr. Kelly getting the appointment.

A number of bills were presented for payment, including an account for firemen in connection with the telephone building fire, totalling around $61.00.

DEATH OF MISS LILLIAN HAYS

Lillian May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hays, passed away rather suddenly at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, on Saturday last.

Miss Hays had been taking a course in nursing. About two weeks ago she complained of being unwell, but nothing serious was expected until Thursday of last week, when complications set in that proved serious. Medical authorities felt that an operation was necessary, and that at once, and wired the parents here for consent. Mrs. Hays left for Edmonton by Thursday night's train and was present when the operation was performed, which proved unsuccessful, the promising young lady failing to rally, passing away on Saturday.

Miss Hays was one of a large family of ten children, eight of whom still survive. She was but twenty-one years of age and was of a joyful and lovable disposition.

The remains were brought to Blairmore for burial and were laid to rest in the Union cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, following an impressive service held at St. Luke's Anglican church by the Rev. A. D. Currie. The pall bearers were: T. Barnes, S. Crawford, T. Smith, D. Reese, T. J. Williams and R. Oakes.

Farewell tributes were from the following: Gates 'Ajar,' the family wreaths, Winnie and Fred, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Womersley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pinkney, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Griesbach, Mr. and Mrs. J. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sensier, and Amy, Frieda, Vera and Reta Brown.

With the bereaved ones we extend sincerest sympathy.

With the mild weather of the past week, the highway between Blairmore and Pincher Station has been cleared of snow and is now open. The scrapers are being used east of Burmis and between Cowley and Pincher and most of the trail is in good condition in their endeavor. Watch for further particulars.

Answer: Rickets or weak bones are evidences of lime-deficiency. Emulsified-vitamin-rich-cod-liver oil helps Nature supply this deficiency.

The Edith Cavell Post of the British and Canadian War Veterans, in Pittsburgh, was presented with an Union Jack at a joint ceremony by the veterans, the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Lord Kitchener Post, of Homestead, Pa.

The number of farms devoted to raising fur-bearing animals in Canada is increasing and figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that for the year 1926 there were over four hundred more such establishments than in 1925.

Experts at the French Foreign Office began a study of a Franco-American peace pact which had been suggested by Secretary of State Kellogg. Our experience with the relief-giving remedy shows how actual-and-positive is the succor it gives. It is the result of long, strict experiment and was not submitted to the public until its makers knew it would do its work well.

Motorist: "It's not my fault! He was crossing in the middle of the street."

Policeman: "Don't tell me that! He's lying right here at the street intersection!"

Motorman: "Well, he was in the middle of the block when I hit him!"

One great drawback to the popularity of the inevitable is its refusal to make concessions.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often is acidosis, and it's in the stomach. The stomach never rests. It is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instead. And the best alkali is milk of magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless stuff in water will neutralize all acids in the stomach as much as a glass of milk, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude medicines when you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a bottle today. Bring Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 60 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

The men gasped. Wasn't Jack Doran "the queer devil to ask a girl right out before everyone?"

"Will you marry me, Helmi, today?" repeated.

Helmi simply nodded.

A short applause broke from the men, in which Bill Larson did not join. He suddenly invited Mrs. McMann for her interfering ways; she'd made nice hash of things.

Mrs. McMann's face grew dark; she had been beaten, right here in her own house. Worse still, she stood to lose the best girl she had ever had. Jack Doran, with his big, feelin' ways, would never let his wife sling talk to miners. Mrs. McMann caught her breath on the intake.

"Well, at least you might have given us a little warning: 'What's all the rush about, I'd like to know? It don't look well—that's all I have to say!'

Mrs. McMann resented youth more and more as she grew older. The slimness and agility of Helmi reproached her ponderous bulk, and now, looking at the boy and girl, she, clean, lithe and whole-souled, stood before them. They felt haled out of their skins. They seemed to drop down "gray young fools—what did they know about life? She hoped."

She blew her breath on her lips as if they needed to be cooled.

CHAPTER XVI.

That afternoon Helmi and Jack drove to town. Eight miles away, they found someone to buy them. Helmi wore the black silk dress which she had worn on the train with the lace collar, fastening the latter with the sunburst which Jack had given her at Christmas.

Mrs. McMann was horrified at the thought of Helmi being married in black. "I ain't superstitious, Helmy," she said, "but you know the saying: 'Married in black, wish yourself back.'"

Helmi laughed—her little world was pulsing with joy; she hardly heard Mrs. McMann's doleful predictions. The mountains were bright with sunshine, the ice had gone out of the river, the world was very fair!

"Jack Doran is only a boy," said Mrs. McMann, "and I believe he asked you right out like that 'cause you'd refuse him, Helmy."

Helmi's eyes were full of rapture. "I could tell he didn't!" thought Jack Doran. "He'll know better next time than to ask a Flinn girl!"

Mrs. McMann looked at her and sighed. Helmi was too happy to yield to any discouraging suggestions.

Nothing dimmed the glory of the day for Helmi until they reached the top of the hill looking down at the little town of Bananom, where a huddle of houses were grouped around the station. Then Helmi suddenly caught Jack's arm.

"Oh, Jack, I no like!" she said, "look at the little houses—they're not like cats going to spring! It is not friendly."

Jack put his arm around her. "Don't be frightened, Helmi, nothing can hurt my Flinn girl."

His eyes were tender when he looked at her, but Helmi's were full of tears. "It is a bad place, isn't it?" she said shivering as she pointed down into the valley. "It is full of bad words, and bad thoughts for us."

The river wound its wide blue ribbon below them, satiny and smooth, with no trace of haste or unrest. From where they stood they could see a smaller stream, which, coming down a wooded ravine, poured its waters into the larger stream with a musical murmur which came softly to their ears. They had stopped their horses at the top of the hill.

The arrival at the fatal spot and the solemnity of their mission gave eloquence to Jack's tongue: "We do not know each other very well, Flinn girl," he said, "but we love each other, and that's all that matters. Now, let us get one thing straight. We have to trust each other—that's all there is in getting married and making it go. I liked Helmi from the time I saw her first, because she has such a straight eye. I believe you are square, and I am too. I've never had a girl, but you. You are not afraid, now, are you Helmi?"

Helmi wished she had known everything in her past life—Jack would understand—but it was so hard to get always the right words in English.

Jack continued: "We are like two streams, Helmi dear, that join there and run together to the sea. We are going to join, just like that, and run together all the way. Once we join we cannot separate. It is a long way, but, for us, there may be wrecks and rapids and rough water, but we'll always be square, Helmi. You are not afraid, now, are you dear?"

Helmi's eyes were misty with tears as she turned and looked into his. "I am not afraid," she said.

They went first to the postoffice to get the license. An elderly man, with a long beard, filled in the form which gave John Ward Doran, and Helmi Milander, the right to be joined in the bonds of wedlock. For this the sum of five dollars had to be paid.

They asked for the Methodist minister, but found there was none. The Anglican minister was away, but the postmaster said the magistrate would be sure to be at home and he gave them directions to find his house.

It stood by itself, a little old house, built all out of wood, with a porch across the front, and a screen porch on the side. The blinds hung crooked, with torn edges; the steps leading to the screen porch were broken, and the wire screening was bulged as if foot-holds were often played inside.

"This looks like a rough house," said Jack, as they approached; "but never mind, Helmi, we'll get married all over again when we go to Edmonton, and in the biggest church there, with stained glass windows; and we'll have a car full of flowers, and bridesmaids and wedding-cake, and 'Here comes the bride,' and everything. But in the meantime, this old boy is sober, we will get enough of the law on our side to go on with."

The magistrate, J. Edgar Blackwood, late of Stoke-Poges, opened the door. His manner registered deep annoyance, his appearance suggested fatigue. A soiled collar, held only by the task stud flared tamely from his neck; and the condition of his shirt gave evidence that there had been a disturbance at the office during the last's laundry. Tufts of hair, his small brushes, grew out of his ears; his eyes were bloodshot, his voice hoarse. Indeed, Mr. Blackwood looked and felt much like a dog that had barked all night.

"What the h— do you want?" he asked, when he opened the door. The words, though ungracious, were spoken in the well modulated tone of the cultured Englishman—the voice that one hears in the most remote and most unexpected corner of the earth.

Jack paused a moment before replying: "Are you in Justice of the Peace," he asked in surprise.

"I'm everything, damn it! I keep the pound, am clerk of the township, do book-keeping for the storekeepers here, and play poker. What can I do for you?"

"We want to get married," said Jack smiling. No one could quibble with Jack Doran on this day of days. He felt Helmi's hand tighten on his arm, and noticed she was pale and frightened, but Jack had no feeling save pity for this dirty and disgruntled old man.

"Come in," said ill-tempered, at length, "come in and sit down." He left them to solve the problem of sitting down as best they might. Every chair carried its own nursery of cloths, papers, cooking utensils, and other bric-a-brac. A horse-collar occupied one; a pair of rubber boots, another. A square red stove roost in the middle of the floor, its damper, hanging drunkenly from one corner, ashed from its end door had dropped down and were cracked over the floor. A tumbled bed, visible through the open door of the room adjoining, gave the impression that Mr. Blackwood had been sleeping there. The table in the room was full of dirty dishes and empty bottles.

Something prompted the magistrate to apologize.

"There's a flock of women here, but they're too damned independent to do a day's work since the miners opened."

"I would like to see them slowly starving and freezing to death. Darned foreigners that they are, who re should have been let come into a white man's country, anyway. Bohunks and Finns."

"Go easy on the Finns, Captain," said Jack, laughing; "I am about to marry one."

Mr. Blackwood gave Helmi a long insolent stare, before which she fell. Were all magistrates cross old men?

They were angry at her because she came from another country.

"You'll need to keep her in her place, young man; she has the eyes of a broncho. They are a high-tempered, murderous lot, the Finns, fighting, stabbing, shooting."

"We're in a hurry, Captain," said Jack, still unruffled; "we will get along with the business now we will be very glad. I have the license here."

They went first to the postoffice to get the license. An elderly man, with a long beard, filled in the form which gave John Ward Doran, and Helmi Milander, the right to be joined in the bonds of wedlock. For this the sum of five dollars had to be paid.

They asked for the Methodist minister, but found there was none.

The old man put on a pair of smeared glasses and began to hunt through the incredible turmoil on his table, looking for the necessary papers, swearing as he drew out each handful that failed to reveal the proper forms. Someone had been interfering; he never could leave anything and find it again; they had been here yesterday or the day before. If people would only leave his things alone, he would set a trap among his papers, and he hoped it would cut his losses.

Mr. Blackwood went to the cupboard, took out a teacup, poured himself a drink from a brown bottle, and made another attempt. After a second drink he found what he wanted.

Helmi hung to Jack's arm, terrified.

"I don't like it," she said, "had luck with men like that, it is so smutty—dirty and bad. He is ducken, come away—we will go to another one—I wish we could get married nice way."

Jack tried to reassure her.

"Show me the license," the magistrate said, swinging around in his chair.

Jack unfolded it and put it in his hands.

The magistrate read the names aloud: John Ward Doran and Helmi Milander.

"Milander—Milander?" He looked up suddenly and regarded Helmi more closely.

Again her eyes fell.

"What do you mean?" he said.

"It Miss Milander will step outside."

Helmi went out, glad to be out of the foul air and away from the scrutiny of the old man's eyes, which reminded her uncomfortably of the only other magistrate she had ever seen.

"Mr. Doran, I take it you are a Canadian?"

Jack nodded.

"And an educated man—a college man perhaps?"

His manner registered deep annoyance.

"I would like to speak to you alone," he said.

"It Miss Milander will step outside."

Helmi went out, glad to be out of the foul air and away from the scrutiny of the old man's eyes, which reminded her uncomfortably of the only other magistrate she had ever seen.

OFFICIAL INTERPRETATION

THE OFF-SIDE RULE

Representatives of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, when visiting Calgary last year, interpreted the "off-side" rule in amateur hockey as follows:

A player who is behind the puck when a play is started, CANNOT MAKE AN OFF-SIDE PLAY.

Amateur hockey players should be coached to always keep behind the pivot man (the player with the puck).

If two or more players break away together (as above), the skating ON-SIDE is allowed. That is, the player with the puck can pass ahead, provided he can catch up to, or pass his team-mate before the pass is accepted. This play can continue right up to the goal mouth.

If the off-side player is ahead at the time the play starts, he CAN-NOT be skated on-side. He must turn and circle BEHIND the puck, otherwise he is off-side during the whole play, and can neither take a pass nor interfere with an opposing player. If he continues in the play and has made no effort to TURN BEHIND the play, the referee shall ring his bell and stop the play. If, any player continues this off-side play, the referee shall penalize him for loafing.

This refers also to the player who has gone up with a play; the puck is stopped and taken back by an opponent, and one of his own side has regained it.

This player must skate back to get on his own side of the puck. If, in the referee's opinion, he is not making an honest endeavor to get back, or if he lags and waits for the play to come to him, the referee must ring his bell and pull up the play before it gets to an off-side player. The referee must see that no player turns ahead of the puck in any of these plays.

All plays mentioned above start at the blue line of the players' defence areas.

To the attacking team, there is no blue line at the other end of the rink.

TYPOGRAPHICAL POTPOURRI

All the world is a page. And all the men and women on it merely characters. They have their names and their periods, and some in their time cut many dashes.

First comes the letter I. Strutting and puffing with his own importance, he sounds his own alarm.

Then comes the E that marks the birth of ease and the end of the beginning, and, strange saw, lies at the beginning of the end.

Next struts along the U that stands at the head of union, strong, and ushers in all those unhonored and unusing.

And G, with grouch extended, creeps unwillingly to school and ends all striving.

While these move on—a strange procession—the line of type is full of queries and the colon, that fails to damp it, gives way until the fuller period comes; and this is succeeded in its turn by some strange capital A motley crowd! The exclamation bold, and interjection sharp, while, in between, the mild parenthesis, with no excuse for being, softly and gently interposes; and just to show the outside world, a star sheds its rays down upon some somesetime note that grovels at the bottom.

Who knows but when the great revolution comes it will be all paid and justified no more; or else so full of error, laid on the headed-up coals, and melted to a dross—International Typographical Journal.

THE ADVERTISER'S CREED

I believe in publicity and in every legitimate method of catching the eye or reaching the ear of any possible customer.

I believe that repetition must result in emphasis, that emphasis must in time attract attention, that attention must create interest and must yield orders.

I believe that the way to sell goods is to advertise them, to tell people about them, continually, to talk straight and to talk honest.

I believe that the market is as big as the world, that a slice of it belongs to me, that my goods are worthy of it, and that I am going to get it.

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairmore Enterprise, 1913)

Jan. 2.—A terrible disaster occurred at the Coal Creek mines of the Crows' Nest Pass Coal Co. at 7.05 on Monday morning, when a snow slide swept down the mountain side to the north of the town and carried with it the carpenter shop, in which were at work some twelve or thirteen men. Six are at present known dead and four others have been recovered injured. The balance are yet missing. Some four or five years previous a slide carried away a carpenter shop from practically the same location.

—THE RETAIL MERCHANT

In some places, but not in High River, merchants are timorous about branching out, fearing the inroads of department houses and chain stores.

These institutions are branching out undeterred by timorousness. But the retail merchant still has his place and will have. In Toronto there are still retail merchants who were in business before Eaton's and Simpson's started, and others are starting out here and there throughout the city, right in the shadow of the big departmentals, and the starting place of the chains.

So, too, in Winnipeg. So, too, in Calgary. These chain stores give the retail merchant cause for caution but not for fear. He was here before they started and he can remain. But he has to do what they do. He has to buy closely, attend to business—and advertise.—Ex.

Our latest Scotch importation tells of how Sandy McPherson decided to leave school because he had to pay attention.—Pennsylvania Dutch Bowl.

"What's the difference between a Scotchman and a coconut?"

"Well, you can get a drink out of a coconut."

Mr. D. Morrison, of Coleman, was a Christmas and New Year's visitor at the home of his brother, Mr. M. Morrison, returning to his home on Wednesday. The visitor reported that the mines in the Pass district were very active.—Naomie Corr to Drumheller Mail.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

After an absence of several months, George Baker has returned to town.

Felix Lodont of Corbin, B.C., is visiting friends in Cowley for a few days.

Miss Doris McEwen was a business visitor to Macleod the early part of the week.

Miss Martha Tustian has accepted a position as clerk in a store at Pincher Creek.

In spite of bad roads, a good crowd turned out to the Banff orchestra dance here on Friday night. A good time was reported.

We have been enjoying soft weather for the past week. Green grass is peeping out from beneath the fast disappearing snow.

Miss Jean McEwen, who has been employed at Blairmore for several months, has gone to Carmangay, where she has accepted a position.

On Tuesday afternoon, several of the local business men opened up the road on the west side of town. The road is now open from Pincher Station to Blairmore.

After an absence of around twenty years, Mr. Seth Fletcher, who moved with his wife and family to the southwestern States, is in the district renewing old acquaintances.

A "five hundred" drive was held in the Masonic hall on Wednesday night. On account of the travelling being difficult, the drive was not very well attended. Six tables were set up. The prizes were won by Thos. Shepherd and Fred Snyder.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Dr. Donald on Thursday night, for the purpose of making arrangements to put on a play, which will be staged the latter part of February. There were eleven members present at this meeting, it being the best turnout for several months.

A couple of Scotchmen made a bet to see who could stay under water longest. Each put up fifty cents. Both were drowned!

Speaker (warning to his subject): "What we want is men with convictions, and where shall we find them?" Voice: "In jail."

Jeanie: "Jock, Jock, there's a coo in the vegetable garden."

Jock: "AU-richt, woman, dinna stand makin' that fuss. Hurry up and milk her before she gets out."

A man had collapsed on the street corner and the usual throng had gathered.

"Give him a shot of whiskey!" yelled two or three voices. Just then Sandy McPherson strode up. "Give him air!" shouted Sandy.

Sandy: "What's the reason for raising th' price of gasoline?"

Gasoline Station Guy: "Why should that bother you—you haven't even got a car?"

Sandy: "True, but I've got a cigar lighter!"—Illinois Siren.

Lost At Sea

Molly Cassidy: "Shure, Pat, I had a certificate of karakter, but I lost it comin' over. Phwat shall I do?"

Pat Murphy: "River mind, Molly, I'll write ye wan."

Writes like this—"This is to certify that Molly Cassidy had a good karakter before she left the out country, but losht it on shipboard comin' over!"

A prominent Pass citizen went to bed the other night, suffering from over lubrication. During the night he spent a while talking to himself. He had his left foot lodged on the bedpost and was talking interestingly to the five toes as though they were enemies of his. At one stage he was heard to remark: "Now, you big fellas, I don't giff a damn fer all ov ye! I'll fight the whole batch at one time, that's me!"

Here and There

Establishing what is believed to be world record, J. H. Parker of Bathurst, Sask., recently delivered 171 potatoes from one hill, the main line of the Dominion Atlantic Railway.

A new record for the Port of Montreal was set up Saturday, October 22nd, with 1,045 ocean-going steamers having entered the port this season (with five weeks or so yet to go). The record is 1,042 for the whole of last season.

All wheat yields in a season of amazing return went to the board on October 25th when J. F. Cook, of Magrath, 24 miles south of Lethbridge, Alberta, reported a return of 175 bushels on a piece of fallow land measuring slightly over two acres.

Hon. W. E. Foster, Chairman of the Saint John Board of Harbor Commissioners, announces that plans for the first unit in the enlarged harbor facilities for Saint John will include four new神明式 berths and an elevator of 2,000,000 bushel capacity and that plans for the remaining prepared areas of the continent will take part.

The race is over a 120-mile course with an average of 40 miles a day.

Montana farmers are hauling grain to stations on the Canadian Pacific Railway line just north of the international boundary line in Southwestern Saskatchewan. Some 50,000 bushels are on the move there on sale to the Wheat Pool. It is remarkable that the Montana farmers are putting the dirt and grain in, getting about $5 per load more than if delivered to the elevators located along the Montana route.

"The tourist crop is the next best crop to that of wheat in the Canadian West," said C. B. Foster, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, visiting Winnipeg recently. "Canadians are now capitalizing our splendid winters," he said, pointing to the mountains as a great draw for tourists. "We have learned to attract them, but we have still learned their appeal to the stranger as well as ourselves and are profiting by it."

Quebec City is preparing for a record winter sports season, according to Jack Strathdee, newly appointed manager of sports at the Chateau Frontenac. Mr. Strathdee comes to his new field of activity with a wealth of experience having conducted sports in the Laurentian Lakes region and more recently at the French River Bungalow Camps of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Saskatchewan heads the provinces in growth of revenue from forestry taxes, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, dealing with the calendar year 1926. The gain over the previous year was over 100 per cent, while Manitoba shows the greatest increase in forestry revenue, of more than 25 per cent. The tourist business for the whole of Canada has risen from $200,000,000 in 1920 to $400,000,000 last year. It is thought to contribute $100,000,000 to Canada's favorable balance of trade.

Of Canada's four great sources of wealth — field, forest, mine and stream — the forest has held its second place, particularly in the exports from the Dominion. For the 12 months ended September 30th of 1926, total exports of wood products were valued at $164,000,000; metals $162,000,000, to which should be added the value of the world's largest wealth of the forests manufactured and unmanufactured wood valued at $160,000,000, making the forest aggregate $280,000,000.

Canadians would be considerably surprised if they were given full details of the British investment going into Canadian channels at the present time, according to R. V. Vack, director of the Bank of England and of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The British does not necessarily mean his business, he stated with his usual quiet. Large sums of money were often placed in the Dominion and never heard of. A case in point being mentioned was that of his grandfather, who was a timber magnate in British Columbia five years ago, and upon the success of the venture the further investment of $200,000.

With around a thousand guests seated in the Ball Room, the Main Dining Room and the Jacques Cartier Room of the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, that famous hotel was packed to the limit on the occasion of the New Year's Eve festivities. Among the guests were the Governor of New Jersey and other members of the most important parties came up from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, and other cities of the United States.

A handsome New Year's gift to the people of Canada was indicated by the amount of $1,000,000 of rates charged by Express Companies of the Dominion for shipment of packages up to 15 lbs. in weight, and on 3% fees, feet in length, width or depth, which had been issued and filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada by C. N. H. Chairman.

Express rates, however, were reduced to effect January 1 and it includes a continuation of the arrangement under which the Express Companies give protection against loss and damage up to $50 without extra charge on packages carried.

Toronto.—The exhibition at Toronto led all the fairs on the continent last summer with an attendance of 1,000,000. According to T. E. Richardson, of Calgary, President of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions. He states that fairs each year are more successful, educationally and financially. More than 39,000 persons attended the 2,000 fairs in the United States last year, and attendance has, in fact, increased each year since 1910 by about $2,000,000. Investments in buildings and equipment were put at $250,000,000 and prizes each year amount to $8,400,000.

DEATH OF JOHN SAMUEL CRAN

One of the oldest residents of the Crow's Nest Pass passed away on Monday night at Hillcrest, in the person of John Samuel Cran, watchman at the Hillcrest tipple, at the ripe old age of 82.

He had been living with his daughter, Mrs. Carter, and was predeceased by his wife about forty years ago. He was a native of Newfoundland.

Funeral takes place at Hillcrest this afternoon, the remains being laid to rest in Hillcrest cemetery.

ORIGIN OF NAME "CANOEUX"

The recent publication of the Geographic Board of Canada, "Place-Names of Prince Edward Island," states that Canoeux (point and cove) is a transplanted Indian name.

It commemorates Captain Holland's ship the Canoeux, in which he spent the winter of 1784-85 in the cove. The ship was called after Cape Canoe, Nova Scotia, sometimes spelled by the French, "Canoeux." Canoe is micmac Indian for "high banks opposite."

CHURCH RISES FROM THE SEA

London, Jan. 4.—Watchers on the shore at Walton-on-the-Naze, on the east coast of England, were amazed yesterday to see a church arise from the sea two miles from the coast. It was the long lost parish church, which has been submerged since 1598 as a result of coast erosion. The severe storm which has been raging for several days, followed by an exceptionally low tide, brought the church to view, covered thickly with shells and seaweed.

Some of the spectators were so overawed that they took only a glimpse and quickly vanished. Others, more venturesome, made a hurried attempt to reach the church, but the tide was too quick for them. The sea rapidly came in and re-submerged the relic of the past.

A dandelion with a stalk eight inches in length and a full bloom flower disk of six inches in circumference, was picked at Truro, Nova Scotia, on December the 21st, the shortest day in the year.

What Makes a Town?

A prosperous rural population which demands a community centre where may be established business, educational, religious and entertainment facilities. Where these flourish and are active it is safe to surmise that the people of that section realize and appreciate the value to them of such a centre.

What Maintains It?

The towns are largely maintained by the surrounding districts. But the organization, the direction, and to a great measure the up-keep, of the institutions in such towns are in the hands of the business interests, together with those directly and indirectly connected therewith. Without the active business and professional men to supervise and govern these public institutions and undertakings, no town could thrive.

Who is Mainly Affected?

Every citizen either in or about a town should be concerned in seeing to it that they do their part in carrying on any good cause which may be promoted, either by financial or active support. Only in this way will any town prosper and develop as it should.

Publicity is Required

In promotion work your local paper takes the leading part. It is ever the champion of worthy causes and philanthropic and patriotic undertakings. But to function properly, and fully carry out its natural prerogatives, it must in turn have the financial support of the community it serves. When needing advertising or printed matter always first think of

Canada In 1927

We are now well launched into the new year of 1928, and it is possible to evaluate the completed story of Canada's progress and development in the year just ended.

It is the universally expressed opinion that the year which went by was one of the best years in Canada's history. It was a year unmarred by any great national disaster or epidemic; it was a year of fairly general prosperity; it was a year of national growth and of development along all its making for national unity and a better conception of Canada's future possibilities.

The Dominions are more highly regarded by our own people, and have attained to a higher place in the eyes of the whole world. The new status accorded the Dominions within the Empire has been productive of greater national pride and confidence which finds expression in a still greater determination to build stronger and bolder in the years to come. Not least among the factors adding to Canada's international position was the election of the Dominion to a seat on the Council of the League of Nations and the appointment of a Canadian Minister at Washington, and an American Minister at Ottawa.

Western Canada can justly claim credit for many of the things which have resulted in the improved position of the country as a whole. During the past five years it is conservatively estimated that the farmers of Western Canada have sold farm produce to a value of $2,000,000,000 at country points, and with the return of prosperity to the West, there has been a vast improvement in business everywhere. In a New Year's message, Sir Henry Drayton declared that the gain of the year must be largely credited to agriculture and the extension of Canadian mining, pulp and paper industries. Western people have long contended that a successful and prosperous agriculture meant prosperity for all. The past year has demonstrated this.

One of the most noteworthy developments of the year has been the rapid increase in the number of machine resources of the Dominion. Practically every province has experienced important developments in this respect, and no country in the world is now attracting quite so much interest, or inviting larger investments in this field of human activity. It is everywhere apparent that Canada is entering upon a new era in mining, and one which gives promises of adding enormously to the wealth of its people and providing employment for many thousands of workmen, not alone in mining itself but in all the allied industries and businesses, including transportation, which active mining operations bring about.

The trade and commerce of Canada has continued at a high level, with the Dominion occupying a position in the front rank of nations, and with a per capita trade higher than any country except New Zealand.

In the world of finance, Canada has been blessed with cheaper money for productive purposes than any country, except the United States. Taxation has been reduced, revenues have expanded, and surpluses in Governmental administration have taken the place of former deficits. Canada's ability to pay off over $50,000,000 of its national debt out of current income in 1927, is a significant of the great change which has taken place in the last few years.

Western cities report a year of great building activity, a largely increased volume of bank clearings, growth in population, prompt payment of taxes, profitable operation of public utilities, and good business in almost every branch of commercial activity. Towns and rural municipalities present the same favorable report, an ever increasing number of the latter having liquidated their entire debenture indebtedness and otherwise decreased their liabilities and increased their assets.

The old year closed with peace, contentment and prosperity prevailing throughout the Dominion, with a new confidence and courage manifesting itself throughout the Maritime Provinces, with activity general in the central eastern Province, and with optimism prevailing in the West, coupled with well organized efforts to steadily advance its agricultural interests and development and with entirely new opportunities on a large scale developing in the north. Canadians can and are facing the new year with pride and confidence.

Children Arrested For Murder

Nine Hundred Homeless Waifs In Russia Implicated In Slaying Of Italian Vice-Counsel

Nine hundred homeless children have been arrested by police in Riga in connection with the murder of the aged Italian vice-consul, Kozio, who was beaten to death with stones and robed by children on a dimly lighted street, according to the Riga correspondent of the Daily Mail.

Kozio's body was found December 27. He had been visiting the night of the killing. At the time it was suspected that bandit girls had robbed him and children were not suspected. Even the gold filling in his teeth had been extracted by the robbers.

According to the Riga correspondent of the Daily Mail, whose report is not substantiated elsewhere, boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 16 attacked Kozio with stones, crushed his skull and rifled his pockets of $2,000. The police made the arrests after they had discovered Kozio's watch. A number of adults also have been arrested.

British Convict Ship On Exhibition In U.S. SHIP DRAWS CROWD

More than $1,000,000 has been made from the old British convict ship Success, which was on exhibition in New York in 1921 and 1923, and since has been on the American waterfront and "River" Captain David Smith, owner of the vessel, said when he sailed for England in the White Star liner Cedric, that his property would probably keep drawing crowds until it reached its final destination in the United States more than 20,000,000 people have paid to see it and the torture instruments it still carries. The decks where, for forty-seven years following its launch in 1790, convicts were punished, still carry the instruments now.

Fletcher's Castoria now considered too terrible to use. The Success is in Toledo now.

Find Long Missing Seal

Was Originally Attached To Charter Of William the Conqueror

A seal originally attached to the charter of William the Conqueror, which always was assumed to have been lost beyond hope of recovery, has been found at the Guildhall, London.

Among an old and miscellaneous collection of articles a red bag was discovered containing pieces of wax which when pieced together with the aid of British Museum experts proved to be the centre of the long missing seal.

TO THE MOTHERS OF ALL PALE GIRLS

If Your Daughter Shows Signs
Of Anaemia or Tonics Is Needed

Anemia is simply a lack of blood. It is a disease of the blood, and at the same time most dangerous trouble from which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impure during childhood, when girls should be growing and should especially take tonic to ward off this inidious trouble. It is because of their powerful action in rebuilding the blood system that tonics are so useful. Tonics are made a world-wide reputation. The case of Miss Claire Sullivan, Pincher Creek, Alta., amply proves the value of tonics. Miss Sullivan says: "I am learning the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, had me take them and after using them for some time I can say the results are wonderful. They have completely restored my health, and now when opportunity occurs I always recommend these pills to weak, pale girls suffering as I do."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or buy at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Buffalo, Ont.

Underground Railway In Tokio

The first underground railway in the Far East opened Tokio to the public. Running one and one-half miles underground, it is constructed on the pattern of the New York subway system and is said to be proof against earthquakes. It connects the railway terminals at Ueno with the Asakusa pleasure quarters.

The BABY

Why do so many babies of tiny escape from the little treacherous infantile ailments that worry mothers? And keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer to this question, you are not alone.

It is caused by a pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distaste of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely to colic, constipation, or diarrhea.

HAVE OVERCOME HANDICAP

ST. DUNSTAN'S ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS AMAZING RESULTS ATTAINED BY BLINDED SOLDIERS

All of the various schemes that were set on foot following the close of the war to aid the wounded soldier, none perhaps attracted so much attention and sympathetic interest as that which is designed to help the blind, either to overcome his great handicap. The reason for this interest lies in the fact that women and women are wont to consider blindness the greatest tragedy that can overtakes any person in the prime of life. It is remarkable, therefore, to read of the work that has been done with blinded soldiers at St. Dunstan's, London. The twelfth annual report of this institution has just been issued. St. Dunstan's was founded by the late Sir Arthur Pearson, himself blind, to aid a soldier who has been deprived of his eyesight and is obliged to seek another vocation in seeking a better trade if his great affliction had deprived him of skill or power to take up again his former occupation. Since its foundation 2,265 officers and men have come under the care of the organization. The pages of the report, which is entitled, "White Memory Lives," provides moving and stimulating reading concerning the manner in which these ex-service men have risen above the affliction. It seems almost incredible that men should have fought and overcome their tragic handicap in such amazing fashion. —TOMORROW.

TIME TO ADVOCATE PEACE

AFTER every great war there is a period of almost complete safety, when the nations are too crippled and too weary to fight again. During that period—and we are living in such a period now—every rational experiment in building up a new machinery of peace ought to be tried. If the experiments fail and new generations arise not aversion from war, then it will clearly be necessary for the nation to defend itself on the old terms and in the old way.

WARY BIRDS FEAST ON GRAIN BUT SPURN TRAP

THE first day of London's municipal offensive against the pigeons inhabiting the neighborhood of St. Paul's Cathedral ended in an unequalled victory for the pigeons.

Some time it was decided to thin out these birds and a contract was awarded to William Dalton, famous rat catcher. For five weeks Dalton and his assistants have been feeding the pigeons in order to become familiar with them. Recently they appeared in a large cage of wire netting and a plentiful supply of grain.

The pigeons ate up all the grain scattered about St. Paul's portico, but not a single bird entered the cage. Dalton, finally deciding that the cocky pigeons are wise birds, retired to think up a new strategy.

DOMINION HAS ADVANTAGE ON FREIGHT RATES

Washington.—Farm relief came up for its first round of consideration this session in the Senate amid an atmosphere apparently as bitter as of old. While Senators Bruce, Democrat-Maryland, and McKeever became entangled in a spirited row over farm relief, Senator Arthur Capper, Republican-Kansas, leader of the erstwhile Senate farm bloc, put forward a resolution proposing a reduction of freight rates on grain and grain products exported from this country in an effort to improve the position of United States grain growers with Canadian competitors.

Declaring Canadian wheat enjoys an advantage of eight to ten cents a bushel in lower transportation charges, Senator Capper held this was a serious menace to American farmers and he called for an immediate investigation by the interstate commerce commission of export grain rates. The commission would be directed to adjust rates to a basis that will permit grain and grain products produced in the United States to move as freely as grain produced in the Dominion of Canada to points of export.

According to Senator Capper, the resolution has the approval of various farm organizations of the United States.

"Unless wheat and wheat products of the United States can compete on fairly equal terms in world markets with wheat from Canada, we shall have on our hands a surplus of grain that eventually will disastrously depress the domestic price of wheat and again bring ruin to the grain growers of the middle west," Senator Capper said.

Air Pilot Killed At The Pas

Capt. Stevenson Meets Death When Engine Stalls

The Pas, Man.—A few minutes after he commenced a trial test flight of his aeroplane over The Pas, the engine stalled and the plane nose-dived to earth, bringing instant death to Captain F. J. Stevenson, pilot, formerly of Winnipeg and Toronto.

The plane crashed in the centre of a street, a twisted mass of wood and metal wreckage. While 300 feet in the air, the engine stopped dead. According to several observers, the plane immediately turned nose down and crashed to the earth with terrific force. Captain Stevenson was dead when extricated from the wreckage. Captain Stevenson, who was a pilot for the Western Canada Airways Lines, a company which maintains aeroports, arrived between Winnipeg and the northern mineral districts of Manitoba, was alone and testing the plane following the installation of new motor parts.

Another Gold Shipment

Canada Has Sent a Further $5,000,000 To United States

New York.—The gold movement from Canada back to New York, which amounted to $5,000,000 in December owing to the discount on the Canadian dollar in the New York foreign exchange market, has been increased to $10,000,000 with another shipment of $5,000,000, consigned to the Canadian Bank of Commerce in New York.

The net loss of gold to the United States during 1927 is placed at $151,000,000 by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in its monthly review of credit and business conditions.

Find "Plans Wing In Sea"

Charlotteville, El Salvador.—A piece of wreckage said to be part of an aeroplane wing has been found at Manglequi Harbor, about seven miles from Tigrish, on the Northeast coast of the island. The piece found was seven feet long, in five sections, fastened by copper screws. There were over a dozen numbers on the wreckage.

Curb Money Lenders

Cannot Solicit Customers In Britain Through the Mail

London.—The Money Lenders Act, which became effective Jan. 1, forbids money lenders from soliciting customers through the mail, but they are still permitted to advertise in newspapers. The end of 1927 witnessed a grand effort by the money lending fraternity to get circulars out through the mail before the new law came into force, and they were plain in their appeals to the recipients of the circulars to "keep for reference," with the suggestion to do so in view of "eventualities which may arise in your personal financial comings."

Deprived of the use of the mail, many money lenders are now attempting to widen their publicity in the newspaper field. With a few striking exceptions, however, prominent newspapers all along have refused to insert such advertisements and they declare they will rigidly maintain this attitude.

Flin Flon Development

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company To Commence Operations

Winnipeg.—Preparations are actively under way for the commencement of real work on the projected development of the Flin Flon mine. Plans for the mill and smelter are being prepared and also for the townsite which will be situated on Ross Lake, about two miles away from the plant.

The Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company is the name chosen for the company which will operate the mine.

The company will, it is learned, in all probability operate under a Dominion charter, but there are several details yet to be settled. R. E. Phelan, general manager of the company, who has been in San Francisco for some time past, is expected to arrive in Winnipeg this month and will establish his headquarters here.

Propose "No War" Treaty

Negotiations Between France and U.S. Is First Step

Washington.—France has been saluted by the State Department to share with the United States a mission to unite all principal nations in "renouncing war as an instrument of national policy."

The proposal for joint leadership, springing from the suggestion of Foreign Minister Briand for a Franco-American treaty outlawing war, is put forward by Secretary Kellogg as offering opportunity for a "more significant contribution to peace by joining in an effort to popularize the adherence of all the principal powers of the world" in a renunciation of war.

San Francisco, Calif.—The legal profession found in the will of the late Gavin McNab, noted California lawyer, a precedent and a heritage. He left money to reimburse clients who lost by his advice.

The will, filed in the probate court here, disposed of an estate valued at between $600,000 and $800,000 earned in life since McNab left his place as a hotel clerk and decided to study law.

Of this amount $40,000 was returned to two clients who paid McNab for advice as to investments upon which he lost.

Bandits Make Haul

Armed Robbers Secure $3,500 From Storekeeper At Beaufort

Wayburn.—Armed American bandits made a sortie on the hamlet or secured some $3,500 from John Kennedy, storekeeper. Kennedy was called from his home by two men who declared that they were in urgent need of medicine and he accompanied them to his shop, where they produced revolvers, and compelled the man to open the safe which contained money belonging to the Saskatchewan Pool Elevator Company, the International Elevator Company, the Post Office department and Kennedy himself. After raking every nickel out of the strong box, the bandits bound Kennedy hand and foot and gagged him before they made their getaway.

Beaufort is a new town on the Lake Alma branch of the C.P.R. and remote from communication with police and other centres. The town is located between Lake Alma and Ratcliff, fifty-five miles south of Weyburn, 38 miles southeast of Radville, fifty miles west of Estevan, all distances as the crow flies. It is ten miles north of the international boundary and twenty-two miles north of Westby, Mont., a notorious hangout for gypsies and gamblers.

Beaufort is also 20 miles from Brodhead, Sask., a former detachment of the Saskatchewan Provincial Police that was ordered closed last spring, when the force was reduced.

BRITAIN WOULD FURTHER PLAN TO OUTLAW WAR

London.—The British Foreign Office has intimated that it would give most favorable attention to any proposals for outlawing war. At the same time reports appearing in the London papers that the United States' proposal to do that and has been forwarded to the British Government are without confirmation. Officials remarked that it would be difficult to comment on a treaty which has been so variously reported in the press.

"We make our own program," was the comment at the department on the criticisms of the London paper, when read to one of the officials. It was pointed out that the London paper is in error in saying that the Patriot and Patriotic are crusaders; they are destroyers and will be surely replaced by other destroyers of more modern type.

The Nicaraguan situation receives much more space in the London evening papers than the proposed treaty.

"While the United States is inviting France to join in proposing to the world a truce renouncing war as a national policy," says The Evening Standard, "she is involved in a campaign in Nicaragua."

The Standard explains this contrast between precept and practice has been brought about by General Sandino, the rebel leader.

The Star heads the Nicaraguan situation as "An Unpopular War."

The Evening News devotes nearly a column to the Nicaraguan situation against an anti-paragraph to the proposed treaty.

Commenting editorially, The Western Gazette calls Secretary Kellogg's proposal to France for a multilateral treaty "a shrewd stroke." It has been ordered by his physicians to take a complete rest from his official duties. The premier's condition, the doctors state, had not shown the improvement they had expected.
